The issue in this campaign is plain. The state taxes are high. The Republicans made them high. Are the people who are complaining of the heavy tax burden going to reward their oppressors by voting them into office again?

McGovern is nothing but a political trickster. To send him to the U. S. senate would be a sad reflection upon a state which has been represented there by intellectual giants. Have the people of Wisconsin forgotten the trickery of McGovern in remitting $2,000,000 in state taxes in 1912, so that he could be re-elected governor in spite of the extravagant bill which he failed to veto?

DIED AT WEDDING DANCE

Mike Pallen, Clerk of the Town of Sharon, Passed Away While Attending Party in Hall.

Frank Biador of Rosholt and Miss Prexeda Schuda of Hull were married at the Casimir Catholic church by Rev. L. Jankowski, Monday morning, a reception and dance following at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schuda, who reside in that vicinity. Among the invited guests was Michael Pallen, a well known resident of Sharon, clerk of the town for the past three years and who for several years previous held the office of assessor.

Everything was progressing merrily, friends being present from different parts of the county, and a tented pavilion had been arranged as a dance hall. Mr. Pallen had taken part in a number of dances, no one present enjoying himself more thoroughly than he. When on the floor at about 3 o'clock he was noticed to suddenly reel and fall, without uttering a word, and although there was a doctor present and everything possible was done, Mr. Pallen passed away in about fifteen minutes, heart disease, to which it is said he had been subject in the past, being the cause.

The deceased was 42 years of age and was a native of Sharon, where he was the proprietor of a general store and saloon, as well as the owner of a farm. He is survived by his widow and an adopted daughter, Helen, who is also his niece and had been a member of the household since infancy. He also leaves two brothers and a sister, Thomas Pallen, Sharon; Martin Pallen, Hazelhurst, and Mrs. Victoria Dulek, Amherst.

After the death of Mr. Pallen, which put an end to the festivities, the remains were brought to this city and prepared for burial. The funeral will be held from Sacred Heart church, Polonia, at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, Rev. T. Malkowski officiating.

The overburdened taxpayers of Wisconsin are not going to vote for anybody who is running on a McGovern-made platform.

BROKE INTO THE BUFFET

Wm. Simpson, Young Resident of City, Arrested for Burglary—Attempt to Rob Shoe Store.

Early Monday morning, Sept. 28th, the Jacobs buffet, at the corner of Clark street and Strong's avenue, was burglarized, liquor to the amount of about $40 being stolen. Although the fact of the burglary was known to various persons shortly after, publicity was not given it, in order that suspected parties might be more quickly apprehended.

Circumstantial evidence pointed to William Simpson's guilt when that young fellow gave a bottle of Old Crow whiskey to Charles Sanders, who later acknowledged having received the liquor from Simpson. Investigation of the old Degen blacksmith shop on Water street last Thursday evening by Chief of Police Hafsoos and N. C. Jacobs revealed eight bottles of the stolen goods hidden there. The next morning at an early hour Chief Hafsoos went to the Simpson home and before reaching the place perceived the young man he was looking for come out of the house, look up and down the street, and then run back. When Mr. Hafsoos arrived at the house there was no response to his repeated knockings, so he entered and upon inquiring for William, was told by the young man's mother, that he was not at home. Doubting the statement, the chief began a search and discovered the fellow behind a bed in a room on the second story. He was taken to jail and confessed that he and another young man had committed the burglary at his own suggestion. They made their entrance by forcing the lock on the door leading to the basement, using an iron bar, and carried away their ill-gotten goods in a sack, hiding it in a barn. Simpson was at one time employed about Hotel Jacobs.

An unsuccessful attempt to rob the Young shoe store on Main street on either the previous Saturday or Sunday nights is also attributed to Simpson and his accomplice.

Two Governors

Martin H. Glynn is the Democratic governor of New York.

Francis McGovern is the Republican governor of Wisconsin.

Mr. Glynn has been in office eleven months. During that time his vetoes and readjustments of the sinking fund have already saved his state from a direct tax of more than $11,000,000, which means a reduction in taxation of that immense amount. This is truly a remarkable record, a saving of a million dollars a month.

We will let Emanuel Philipp, the Republican nominee for governor, describe Gov. McGovern's record, for he can do it much more eloquently than we can. In a speech at Waukesha on July 15, 1914, Mr. Philipp truly said:

"The condition in our state which is uppermost in every citizen's mind, and against which men, irrespective of political affiliation do protest, is a steady and unchecked growth of public expenditures which have reached the point of oppressive taxation and extravagance. The platform recites that the cost of state government has increased 400 per cent., while the population has increased only a fraction over 12 per cent."

"An examination of the figures that are obtainable to substantiate this statement shows that the cost of the state government in 1900 was, in round figures, $4,000,000; that we now are actually spending $15,000,000 per year, and that the appropriations of the last legislature authorized an expenditure of over $18,144,515 to run the government a single year."

"These figures prove the declaration in the platform, and in a more comprehensive form prove that the cost of state government has increased from $2.00 per capita in 1900 to more than $5.00 per capita for every man, woman and child in 1914."

"This extraordinary increase in state expenditures brings this question home to every citizen: are you deriving benefits from this state government that offset the increased cost? Are you so much better governed now than you were in 1900? Is your protection in the pursuit of life, liberty and happiness 400 per cent better than it was in 1900? Or, to be more explicit, is the state guarding your health, your personal safety, the education of your children, your property rights and your rights in court, your personal liberty and religious freedom so much better as to justify an increase of 400 per cent in taxes?"

"In the face of such rapid and unprecedented increase of tax rates the intelligent citizen must ask himself: Is it necessary to spend this large sum of the taxpayers' money in the exercise of the legitimate functions of state government?"

The convention which nominated me declared it to be a reckless and wasteful use of the taxpayers' money, and demand immediate and substantial retrenchment, a demand that I heartily concur in."

In trying to defend the outrageously high taxes, Gov. McGovern put the blame on the people he now expects to elect him to the United States senate, saying "The people expect their government to do these things." The people gave him their answer by holding meetings of taxpayers in every part of the state at which resolutions were adopted denouncing the heavy appropriations of the Republican state administration.

OFFICERS ENTERTAIN

Woman's Club Officers Hold Reception at Home of President, Mrs. D. J. Leahy, on Main Street.

The reception given by the officers of the Stevens Point Woman's Club to the members, at the home of the president, Mrs. D. J. Leahy, Friday evening, was one of the prettiest social events held in the city for a long time. The parlors and dining room were profusely decorated with cut flowers tastefully arranged and placed in every nook and corner, the effect being extremely beautiful and pleasing.

One of the most pleasing features of the reception was the fact that the state federation president, Mrs. J. A. Strathearn of South Kaukauna was present, and all members thus given an opportunity to make her acquaintance.

Shortly before 8 o'clock the ladies began to arrive and were met at the door by Miss Dorothy Kingsbury, who passed them on to the reception committee composed of the officers, Mrs. Leahy, Mrs. W. J. Shumway, Mrs. F. H. Patterson, Mrs. C. E. Shortell, Miss Graham, Mrs. C. C. Conlisk and Mrs. J. A. Strathearn. Dainty refreshments were served by the board of managers, composed of Mrs. T. H. Hanna, Mrs. M. W. Buck, Mrs. W. E. Kingsbury, Mrs. A. M. Nelson and Mrs. C. E. Urbahn. Delightful music for the occasion was furnished by Roy Ennor, violinist, and Miss Helga Anderson, pianist.

Over one hundred ladies were present, the last of them leaving for their homes shortly before 11 o'clock, all pronouncing this a particularly pleasing and successful occasion. Cor.

"Standing by Karel is not standing by Wilson."—Milwaukee Journal (Philipp organ). "I will go to Wisconsin to speak for the Democratic ticket."—William Jennings Bryan, prince of Progressives. Will you believe a renegade Democrat or a real Democrat?

Emanuel Philipp won the Republican nomination for governor by a scathing denunciation of the extravagance of the state administration, while his running mate, Attorney General Owen, says he will not condemn the present state administration, but will uphold and endorse it in every speech he makes during the present campaign. This looks very much like a house divided against itself.

The result of the election in Maine points to a Democratic victory in November if Democrats work harmoniously to bring out a full vote. The Washington correspondent of the Brooklyn Eagle on this point has the following to say: "So far as outward appearances go, the Democratic organization is full of enthusiasm and hope, while the Republicans seem to be dispirited, especially since the Maine election, where it was shown that the Progressive party is still strong enough to make trouble for the parent party."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Servia's plan of military organization is distinctive. Compulsory service is personal for all able-bodied men and pecuniary for all who are incapable of personal service. These latter must pay an indirect tax of 30 per cent additional. The military forces are divided into a national army and the land-sturm, which forms the last line of defense. Service in the national army begins at twenty-one and ends after forty-five. In the landsturm it begins at seventeen, ends at twenty-one; begins again at forty-six and ends at fifty.

The national army consists of three bans, the first ban including all able-bodied men between twenty-one and thirty-one, the second ban all between thirty-one and thirty-eight and the third those between thirty-eight and forty-five.

The first ban has its cadre, a school through which every able-bodied man of twenty-one must pass. No one is allowed to change his nationality while belonging to the first ban, nor can any member thereof receive any outside appointment or become even a monk until he has served his term in the army.—Baltimore Sun

Titles of the Czar.

Of all monarchs of Europe the most imposing in his list of titles is Nicholas of Russia, who bears the following honors: Emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, czar of Moscow, Kiev, Vladimir, Norgorod, Kazan, Astrakhan, Poland, Siberia, the Tauric Chersonese and Georgia; lord of Pskov, grand duke of Smolensk, Lithuania, Volhynia, Podolia and Finland; prince of Esthonia, Livonia, Kurland, Semgallia, Samogitia, Bieloostok, Carelia, Tver, Perm, Yougoria, Viatka, Bulgaria, etc.; lord and grand duke of Lower Norgorod, Tcherisingoff, Riasan, Polesk, Rostoff, Yaroslav, Belosero, Oudoria, Obodria, Condia, Vitebsk, Mstislav and all the regions of the north; lord and sovereign of Iveria, Cartaulia, Kabardinia and the Armenian provinces; sovereign of the Circassian and mountain princes; lord of Turkestan, heir of Norway and duke of Schleswig-Holstein, Stormarn, Dithmars and Oldenburg.

Reciprocity.

With a feeling of sadness for the recipient, Dorothy finally concluded to pen a missive to her former fiancé.

"Dear Harold," it read. "No doubt you are aware that I am to marry Mr. Anthony the coming month. I shall, therefore, appreciate it very much if you will burn all the little notes I sent you, assuring you of reciprocity in regard to those you sent me."

"DOROTHY BELL."

Immediately upon receipt of above the young man made this reply:

"Dear Dorothy—I shall certainly comply with your request, and at once. And, incidentally, as your new fiancé also holds a few little notes of mine I shall count it a great favor should you be able to induce him to burn them with the rest."

"HAROLD SAWYER."

Soothing His Father.

The father of Sir Hubert Herkomer, the great painter, was a poor man, and the professor brought him from his native land in Germany to live with him in his beautiful house near London. The old man used to model in clay in his early life, and now that he had leisure he took to it again in his old age. But his hands trembled, and the work showed signs of imperfection. It was his one sorrow. At night he went to bed early, and when he had gone his son would go into the studio, take his father's poor work and make it as beautiful as possible. When the old man came down in the morning he would look at the work and rub his hands and say: "Ha! I can do as well as ever I did."

For the Good of the Lawyers.

"Say, pa," inquired young Sylvester Snodgrass, "what's a test case?"

"A test case, my son," replied the senior Snodgrass, "is a case brought into court to decide whether there's enough in it to justify lawyers in working up more cases of the same kind."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Old Time Beggars.

In the eighteenth century begging was a frightful nuisance in the German states. In Bavaria whole regiments had to be sent out to arrest and punish the numerous professional beggars, and Cologne, with a population at the time of only 40,000, had nearly 10,000 paupers.

Early Rising.

Some one asked Archbishop Whately if he believed personally in early rising. That witty divine replied that he had on one occasion risen early, but that he felt so proud all the morning and so sleepy all the afternoon that he had resolved in the evening never to do it again.

Soaping a Geyser.

Food That Roused the Fury of the Sleeping Wairoa.

Some of the larger geysers in New Zealand will not play unless they are soaped—a process only occasionally allowed, as too much soaping weakens the geyser. Paul Gooding in "Picturesque New Zealand" describes the soaping of a geyser named Wairoa, he being present at the ceremony. The author states that the officiating priest was a Maori known as Kathleen, who was clothed in a flax mat completely covered with raka, riwi and pigeon feathers.

"The caretaker approached Kathleen with a big white bag in hand. It was half full of yellow soap cut into small cubes.

"Are you ready, Kathleen?" he asked.

"Yes," she promptly answered.

"Taking out two or three handfuls of soap, the caretaker threw them into Wairoa's deep throat and then handed the bag to Kathleen. Grasping the string handle at the bottom of the bag, she opened the mouth, and out poured a saponaceous stream.

"Ten minutes passed, but there was only a slight increase in the volume of steam at Wairoa's mouth, and there were no subterranean signs of an imminent eruption. Fifteen, twenty minutes passed with very little change.

"When thirty minutes had gone there was a rumble, then a splash of water. The people near the geyser backed away. Two or three more splashes followed, and each was higher than its predecessor; then came a hoarse roar, a rush of steam, and up past a low sulphur dyed sinter wall flashed a column of water carrying up clouds of steam. Soap, just common washing soap, had conquered Wairoa and forced it from its lair. Up it continued to go—fifty, sixty, eighty, 120 feet.

"Wairoa would have gone higher if it hadn't been for the wind," the caretaker told me. "It has been known to go 180 feet."

"While Wairoa played it played magnificently. In its shaft it rumbled, it sung its hot breath upon the venturesome, and for more than 100 feet around it shook the ground until the earth trembled. For ten minutes it rose and fell. Then down it went, like a thermometer on a frosty night, until it was a mere splasher."

FOUR GREAT HEROES.

Their Fall from the Giddy Heights of Ambition and Power.

History records that Alexander the Great, who was the pupil of Aristotle at fourteen, and who reigned over the Macedonians at sixteen, while his father was absent, and who succeeded Philip when he was nineteen, after climbing the heights of his ambition, fell from his lofty eminence. Alexander, with his temples bound in chaplets dipped in the blood of countless nations, looked down upon a conquered world and wept that there was not another one for him to conquer, then set a city on fire and died amid scenes of debauch.

Hannibal, one of the greatest soldiers who ever lived, after having passed the Alps, to the amazement of Rome, and having successfully fought and conquered the armies of the mistress of the world, stripping three bushels of gold rings from the fingers of her slaughtered warriors, fled from his country. He died by poison administered by his own hand, unlamented, in a foreign land.

Caesar, considered as a general, a statesman and a ruler, has had few equals and probably no superiors. After conquering 500 cities and dyeing his hands in the blood of millions of his enemies, after having pursued to death the only rival he had, was assassinated by those whom he considered to be his best friends.

Bonaparte, the greatest general of modern times, after having filled the earth with the terror of his name, deluged it with tears and blood and clothed the world, as it were, in sackcloth, ended his days in banishment upon a lonely island in the South Atlantic.

Another Way to Get Even.

"I want to sue Dr. Blank for heavy damages!" said the angry citizen entering the lawyer's office.

"What has he done?" asked the attorney.

"When he operated on me he left a pair of surgical scissors in me. How much can I sue him for?"

"Oh, don't sue him at all," counseled the lawyer; "just send him a bill for storage."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Strange Works to Him.

The hostess asked the solid man of her guest list to take a talkative young woman in to dinner. The girl did her best to keep up the conversation, ranging from Wall street to the crops and back. Only once did the solid man desert the unfailing affirmative, and that was when she asked, "Do you like Beethoven's works?" "Never visited them," he replied. "What does he manufacture?"—Argonaut.

Why Not?

"Mother," asked Tommy, "is it correct to say that you 'water a horse' when he is thirsty?"

And so the people of Wisconsin will have an independent candidate for governor on their ticket this fall, ex-Senator John J. Blaine of Escobedo, a Progressive Republican, having consented to make the sacrifice and briefly announced his candidacy through the press. He is a native of Grant county, was elected to the senate in 1908 and served for one term. The unskipped on the Progressive side have been clamoring for an independent for several weeks, and Mr. Blaine has consented to be their Moses. Loyal Democrats are shedding no tears.

And still the taxes go up, and "God's patient poor" of Portage county will be called upon this year to pay on an increased valuation in this county of $2,642,304, as compared with last year, and assessed by the Wisconsin Tax Commission. Can the farmers and property owners show us where the increase in valuation comes in? The total assessed valuation of the state is $3,172,989,154, an increase over 1913 of $176,000,000, exclusive of railroads and such like property.

Amherst people were thoroughly aroused over the fires that were apparently set, Thursday night. About 6:30 o'clock an alarm was turned in and a box car at the John street crossing of the Soo line was found to be ablaze. Two tramps were caught in the act of crawling out of the burning car and were taken to the lock-up. All was quiet till 3 o'clock Friday morning, when the alarm was again turned in and this time three small fires were discovered back of the old dry wooden buildings on Main street. After working like mad for three hours the blaze was under control but not till the general store of Wm. Weller and the hardware store of F. S. Button were in ashes and the buildings on both sides badly damaged by fire and water. R. R. Fryar's building is on the south, occupied by the Mason millinery store, Frank Starks, vender, and the Ed. Nelson restaurant. To the north is the John Gibson saloon building. This fire is thought to be work of tramps, with whom the town is literally overrun. Mr. Weller has rented the C. J. Iversen building on the corner and will open the store this week with a line of general merchandise. Mr. Button will be found in the Ed. Starks building, across the street, and in a short time will be in even better position to wait on the public. Miss Mason has rented the Frank Allen building. Less than five years ago a like calamity befell Mr. Button while he was a resident of Unity and the effects of that, followed so closely by last Friday morning's disaster, is very lamentable. He carried an insurance of $4,000 but his loss was considerable above those figures. Mr. Weller places his loss at about $3,000.

his home by fire last Wednesday evening. The explosion of an oil stove instantly set fire to the entire kitchen part of the house. Orrin was not at home at the time but Wm. J. The inside woodwork and the furniture was badly damaged. The building was insured in the Phoenix Insurance Co.

The Republicans cannot get away from the stubborn fact that the "Wisconsin idea" has increased the state expenses from $2.00 to $5.00 per capita. Will Candidate Philipp's explanation department reply to the charge of Editor Roethe of the Fennimore Times that the people were hounded at the Republican platform convention?

THE PRESIDENT PRESENT

Mrs. J. A. Strathearn Delivered Excellent Address at Woman's Club Meeting Last Saturday Afternoon.

A large and appreciative audience attended the Woman's Club meeting, Saturday afternoon, each member of the club being permitted to invite a guest. The initial number on the program was a piano solo by Miss Helga Anderson entitled "Impromptu," by Reinhold. This was enjoyed by everyone present and Miss Anderson responded to an encore.

The next number was a vocal solo, "Tolstoi's Goodbye," by Mrs. T. H. Hanna, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Gregory. Mrs. Hanna was heartily encored and responded with "Just a Wearying For You."

Mrs. D. J. Leahy, before introducing Mrs. Strathearn, said that it was not solely to enjoy the music we had invited our guests, but because we had the good fortune to have with us for the afternoon one of the best informed women of this state, and that it was her pleasure to present to the club as the speaker for the afternoon our state federation president, Mrs. J. A. Strathearn.

In her introductory remarks Mrs. Strathearn spoke of the rapid growth of women's clubs and asked if our city would be willing to do without the institutions that have been obtained thru the efforts of the club. Continuing, Mrs. Strathearn said, in the early life all effort was put forth to cure, but we know at the present time that "to prevent" is the divine whisper of the day. In this effort we realize we must commence with the child and for that reason we find on club programs such topics for study and discussion as eugenics, play grounds, child labor, etc. The greatest help is to take the child back to the gardens the good Lord planted. The schools of the country are taking up school gardening. Emerson spoke a prophetic truth when he said, "In dealing with my child, my Latin and my Greek, my accomplishments and my money stand me nothing, but as much soul as I have avails." Club life develops the soul of women by contact and study. After forty years of social service our women are actively interested in all institutions and organizations. They have for their purpose the betterment of community life. We have taken up civics in its various forms. In every city there are monuments to the civic work of women.

Because of our club work we have been better able to cope with the vice problem. Clubs stand for a single standard of morals and clean politics. Children should be trained in citizenship and good morals in the public schools. The state fair was criticized for allowing objectionable shows on the fair grounds. It is necessary that every exhibit at the state fair be the best that can be procured. Then why should visitors to state or county fairs have their sense of decency shocked by any exhibit or performance that has been licensed to appear there?

In concluding, Mrs. Strathearn said, we stand for lofty patriotism that believes in the dignity and worth of humanity and in the virtue of a sense of moral responsibility. In our club work we strive to make the community within our reach better for our living. We ask our women to participate in peace services tomorrow. We must pray for a revival of our faith and for a deeper consciousness of human brotherhood. Pray for a clear vision of country, home and humanity.

The closing musical number was a vocal solo by Mrs. T. H. Hay, entitled, "Serenade," by Goring Thomas, accompanied on the piano by Miss Nina Coye. This was greatly enjoyed and Mrs. Hay very kindly responded with an encore, "Her Rose," by Whitney Combs.

After the closing number, Mrs. Leahy tendered the thanks of the club to the musicians and the speaker of the afternoon.

A NOBLE LADY CALLED

Mrs. Bridget Coniff, Widow of the Late John Coniff, Passed Away Last Night at Dancy.

Mrs. Bridget Coniff, an old and well known resident of this city and Stockton, died at her home in Dancy, Tuesday evening, Oct. 5th, after an illness of several weeks from complications following an operation for tumor.

The deceased had all her life enjoyed remarkable good health up to the time of the death of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Kronenwetter of Dancy, and on account of the suddenness and sad circumstances attending same, she could never recover from the shock and gradually her vitality gave away. A tumorous growth, which had bothered her for some time, began to assume dangerous proportions and with the courage and strength of mind that had ever dominated her life, she came to this city and entered St. Michael's hospital, where she was operated on May 16th. The operation was entirely successful and in two weeks time she was able to be taken to her home at Dancy, where she continued to improve until complications became apparent that medical aid could not overcome, and the end came peacefully.

Mrs. Coniff, whose maiden name was Bridget Doyle, was born in County Wicklow, Ireland, May 18, 1838. When in her infancy death deprived her of her father, and when 8 years of age her mother, with other members of her family, left Ireland and came to Montreal, Canada, where they resided for some years and then moved to this city. The brothers took up farms in what was called at that time the "school section," but now is known as the towns of Stockton and Sharon. She was the youngest of a family of seven and the last one to survive.

The deceased was married in 1857 to Mark Grooms in Stevens Point, and of this union two children were born, Thomas and William. The former was living with her at the time of her death and William died some years ago at Sidnaw, Mich.

Due to the civil war she was left a widow and in 1846 she was married to John Coniff. Of this union five children were born, Mrs. G. G. Knoller and Mrs. M. H. Altenburg of Dancy and John Coniff of Fallon, Nevada, and Mrs. J. P. O'Keefe and Mrs. Henry Kronenwetter, who had preceded her to the great beyond. There were also two step-children, Matt Coniff of Bradley and Mrs. Dennis Loughlin of Dorchester, the latter having passed away two years ago.

After her marriage to Mr. Coniff her home was in Stockton for many years, up to the time of Mr. Coniff's death 23 years ago last April, when she sold the old homestead and moved to this city, where she resided for one year until the death of her daughter, Mrs. O'Keefe. She then moved to Dancy, where she resided much of the time since.

Mrs. Coniff was a remarkable woman in many ways. No matter how dark or heavy the clouds were she could always see the silver lining, a personality few people in this life are blessed with, and notwithstanding her advanced age, she kept alive and abreast of the times. Life to her was worth living, for she saw good in everybody and everything. That she was beloved by everybody, old and young alike, was apparent by the numerous enquiries and beautiful flowers that were sent her from far and near during her illness, and which tended to brighten her last days. She was a mother to her family in the fullest sense of the word, and the remaining members mourn her taking away bitterly.

The funeral will be held at Mosinee Friday morning at 10 o'clock from St. Paul's Catholic church, Rev. Father Klein officiating. The pallbearers will be J. J. Heffron of this city, Lawrence Breitenstein and Tom R. Guenther of Knowlton, and M. O'Connor, of Mosinee.

petition. Upon petition filed not later than four months before the next general election, such proposed amendment shall be submitted to the people.

C. A. Kilmer, upholsterer, 592 Park street, Stevens Point, says: "I was working in an upholstering store in Chicago when I first began to have trouble from my back and kidneys. I suffered from a constant, dull pain in the small of my back, and my back got so lame that it was hard for me to do the least stooping. The kidney secretions were highly colored and passed too frequently. I knew from the symptoms that the trouble from my back was due to weak kidneys and I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. In a few days, they fixed me up all right. Since then, whenever I have felt the least out-of-sorts, I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and they have quickly and thoroughly relieved me."

The Republican candidate for congress in the First Nebraska district, in his opening campaign speech, denounced the democratic tariff bill as sectional, and cited as proof that "Underwood, who comes from Alabama, was instrumental in having the tariff raised on cotton, which is a southern product." The fact that there is no tariff on cotton and that there was none in the Payne-Aldrich law indicates the depth of tariff knowledge possessed by this republican candidate.
